

ABSTRACT

A hunting blind, a blind support, and a filtration unit for use on a tree with or without a tree stand. The blind support preferably includes a bracket for mounting to the tree and a foldable frame for mounting to the bracket. The blind preferably sealingly mounts to the blind support and the tree in a position around the tree stand, and preferably includes a sheet of material segmented into panels for providing access to the tree stand and a good seal around the ladder of ladder tree stands. The filtration unit preferably includes a carbon-activated filter and a fan for drawing air from a top opening of the blind, downward around a hunter in the tree stand, through the filter, and out of the blind.